

Real estate and breakfast

DJC event focuses on how to handle troubled properties

At left, John Ward, president of R&H Construction Co., and Ed Dean, vice president of Nishkian Dean, chat before a panel discussion on "Strategies and Solutions for Troubled Real Estate" at the Daily Journal of Commerce's quarterly Builder Banker Breakfast at the Portland Marriott Downtown Waterfront hotel on Tuesday. Below, panel participants were, from left: Dina Alexander, partner with Ball Janik LLP; Tim Kalberg, shareholder with Perkins & Co.; Roger Qualman, executive vice president with NAI Norris, Beggs & Simpson; and Jerry Johnson, principal with Johnson Reid LLC. — Dan Carter

